

ABSTRACT

Systems are described for a wireless animal trap detection system. An apparatus includes an animal trap, a wireless radio frequency (RF) transmitter coupled to the animal trap wherein the wireless RF transmitter transmits a series of signals at substantially random intervals upon 5 activation of the animal trap, and a receiver configured to receive the series of signals from the wireless RF transmitter.